Welcome to your future retreat in Los Naranjos, Cordillera, Boquerón! This stunning 20-hectare agricultural estate is a haven for those seeking to live in harmony with nature and prepare for the future. Strategically located in a valley surrounded by majestic mountains, this property offers an unparalleled setting for those who wish to cultivate their own food and enjoy the tranquility of the countryside. With mostly flat sloping topography, this estate is ideal for diverse agricultural projects. Currently used as a cattle farm with improved pasture, it offers fertile land ready to be cultivated according to your needs and desires. In addition, it has privileged access to the Macho de Monte river on one side and a refreshing stream on the other, as well as water springs within the property, ensuring a constant and natural supply of this vital resource. The exceptional climate of the area, with an altitude of 1,320 meters above sea level, provides optimal conditions for agriculture and the cultivation of a wide variety of crops. The trees scattered throughout the property add beauty and ecological value,
